CBRN-Analysis - Software License Key (SLK)

Tutorial Slide Pack

How does it work?

How does the software license key work? In short:

- CBRN-Analysis must be activated using a activation key (this must be done by internet access either directly via a wizard or indirectly using a browser)
- Single software licenses will be node locked to a specific PC/Laptop
- Service licenses will NOT be node locked

There are two factors that determine the precise activation process:

- Does the CBRN-Analysis computer have direct Internet access?
- Is a Service or a Single Operator License required for CBRN-Analysis?

Single Operator License

Activation procedure – to be done by each Operator

- Install CBRN-Analysis, latest updated version as described
- Run the software license wizard, either as
  - Online
  - Offline
- The Software License Key Activation code will be the same for each Operator to the maximum number of licenses allowed
- If a customer for example has 10 licenses, then they can only install CBRN-Analysis onto 10 computers/laptops.
- The Software License Key Activation code is programmed to know that 10 is the amount allowed.

Changing an existing license

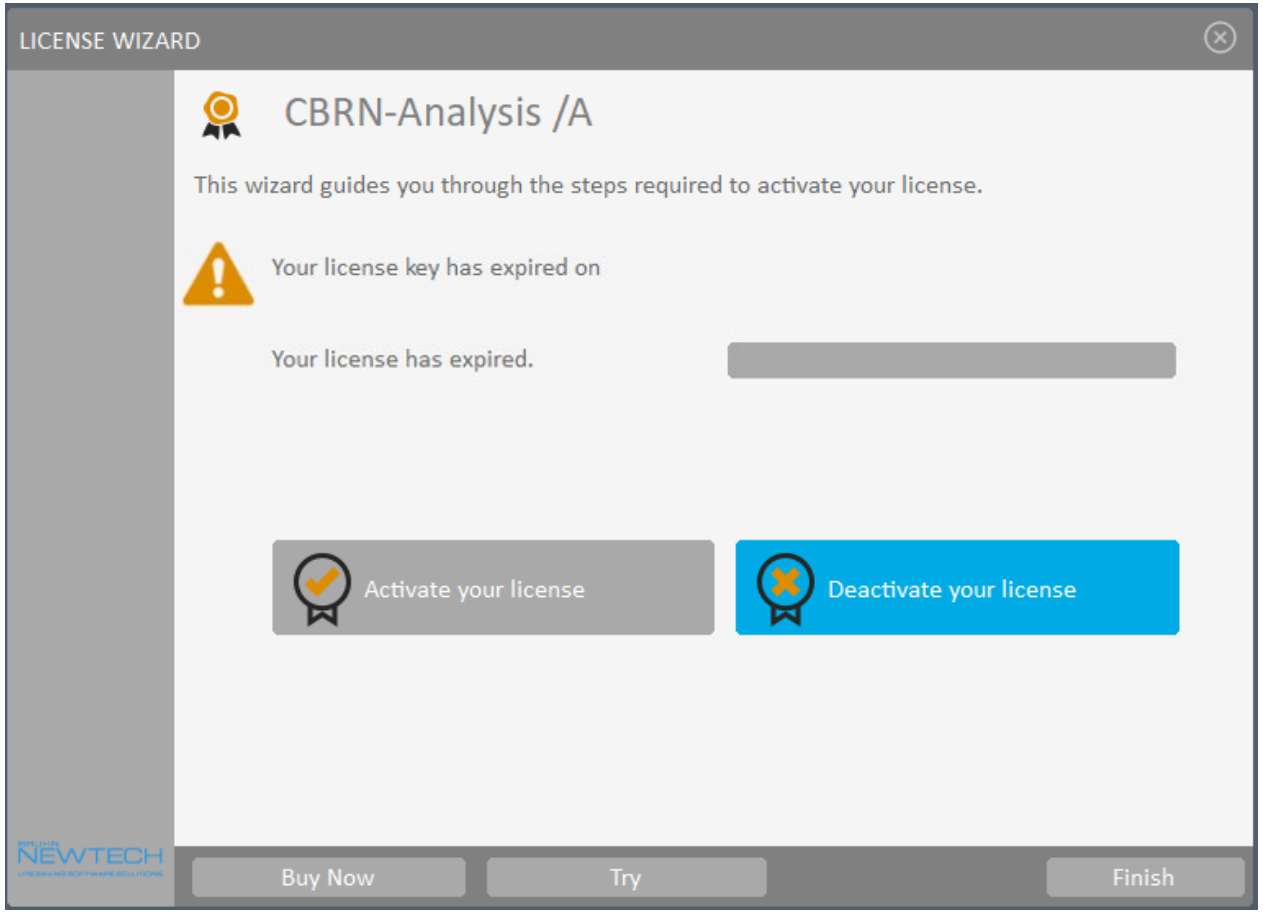

After having activated a license key, many questions may arise, like:

- How do I deactivate a license?
- How do I re-activate a subscription license, when CBRN-Analysis is upgraded?
- How do I move a node locked license to another computer?
- How do I activate a new module in CBRN-Analysis?

The two main procedures are “Activate” and “Deactivate”

Software License Wizard, Deactivate

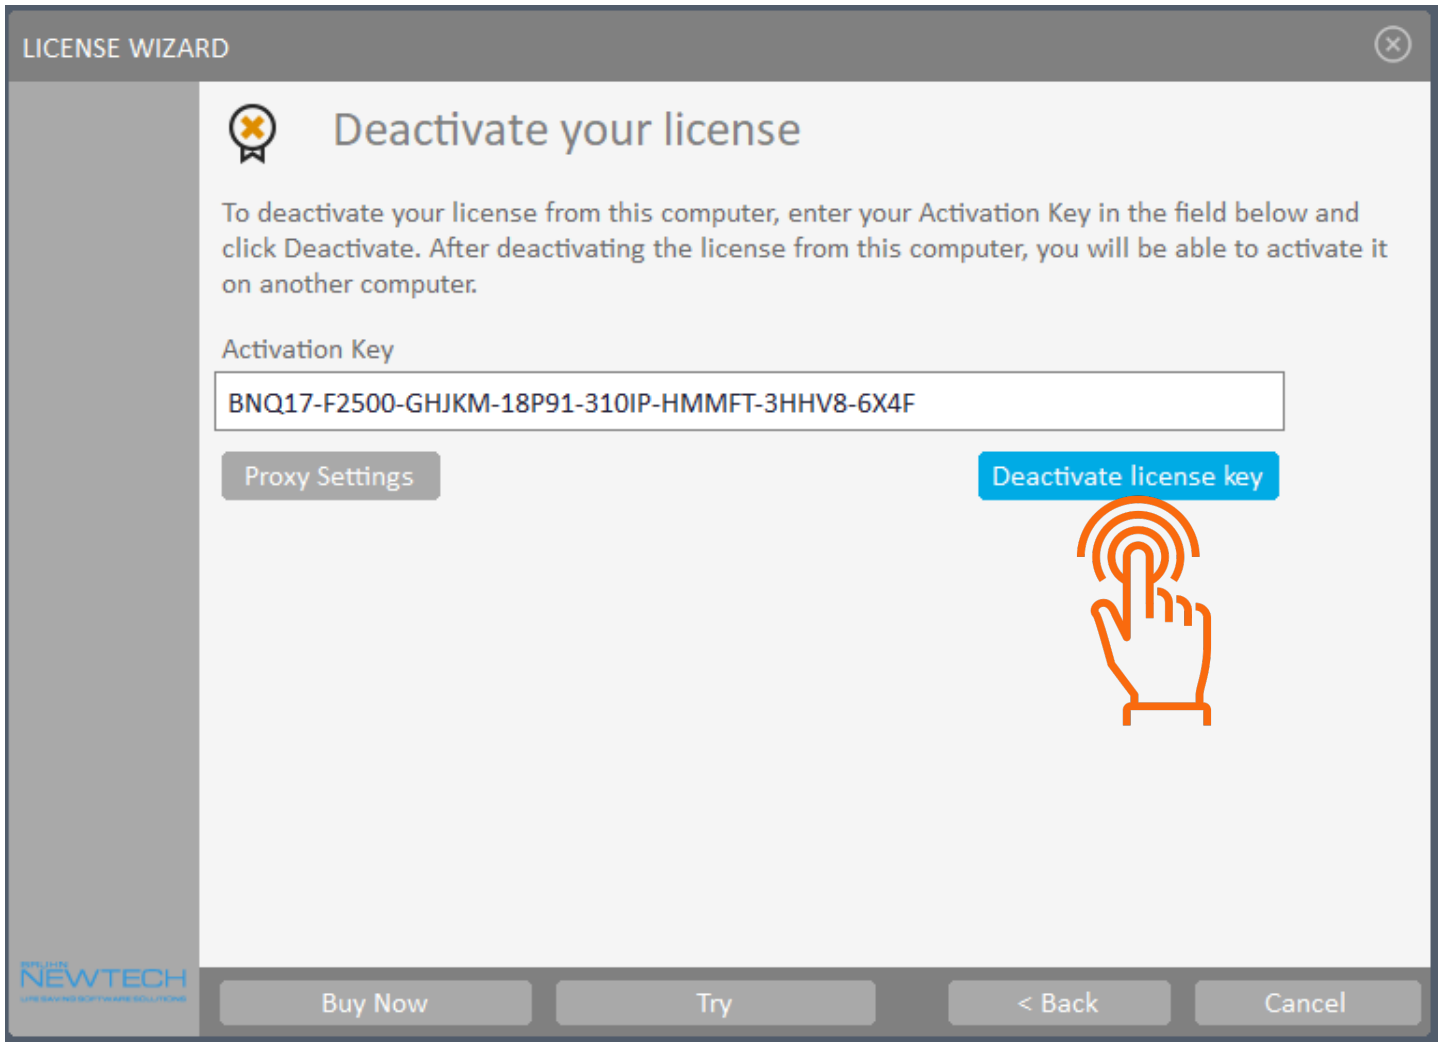

Deactivation is used for three reasons:

- If the Software License Key time period has expired
- When updating from one version of the software to the next
- When switching CBRN-Analysis from one computer to another

Support – Single Operator Software License Key

For Single Operator Licenses CBRN-Analysis must be activated on EACH computer running CBRN-Analysis.

- Use the Activate procedure after installation of CBRN-Analysis
- Use the Deactivate and Activate procedures to move CBRN-Analysis to another computer or update a version
- More information is available in the Installation Guide
- Separate visual flowcharts are available on request

If the Software License Key cannot be activated or deactivated e.g. due to computer failure, Bruhn NewTech can be contacted during normal office hours to have the key activated/deactivated immediately.
